Wilson to Block Senate Debate
on Mexico—2 Englishmen,
2 Americans Missing

BY JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Every world power except America will soon have marines or bluejackets guarding their interests in Mexico City. England and Germany already have legation guards, and France and Japan have notified the Washington administration that they have decided to send guards to their legations. Other powers are expected to follow this example. No Americans will be landed unless violence forces such action.

Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz sent word that he can put marines in Mexico City within 24 hours when necessary. The feeling there is so tense that it is feared the presence of Americans would cause trouble instead of enforcing peace.

Led by Senator Fall of New Mexico, southern senators are planning to force a discussion of the Mexican situation in the Senate. President Wilson is prepared to checkmate them by having Senator Shively of Indiana move for an executive session when the Mexican topic is broached. The cabinet discussed Mexican affairs at a lengthy meeting today. It is understood Secretary of State Bryan has instructed Consul Edwards at Juarez to renew demands for the body of William H. Benton, slain there last week after alleged trial by court martial.

CARRANZA EN ROUTE TO NOGALES WITH CABINET
NOGALES, ARIZ., Feb. 24.—Elaborate preparations are being made at Nogales, Sonora, for the reception of General Carranza and staff and his cabinet, they leaving Hermosillo on a special train last night for the border. They are expected here tonight or tomorrow. General Carranza is en route for Chihuahua to establish a provisional constitutional capital. Thousands of troops are following in another train.

General Carranza held memorial services yesterday at Hermosillo for the late President Madero of Mexico.

GUSTAVE BAUCH BELIEVED TO BE SHOT BY REBELS

EL PASO, Feb. 24.—Fears that Gustave Bauch has been shot as a spy by the Mexican rebels are intensified by the statement made by General Villa that he had been set free. This followed close upon the official report by Consul Edwards at Juarez that Bauch had been taken to Chihuahua City. Villa's statement said: "Bauch was arrested in Juarez on suspicion of being a spy. He was released at Juarez last week. He was not executed or taken to Chihuahua as reported. I personally gave the order for his release."

Villa also reiterated that the Englishman, Benton, was executed only after a court martial finding him guilty of attempting the life of Villa. Bauch is an American resident of Juarez.

TWO ENGLISHMEN AND TWO AMERICANS MISSING

Benton's body is still missing today. Neither was any trace found of the other two missing Englishmen, Curtis and Lawrence, nor of Harry Compton of Oakland, California, all supposed to be prisoners of the rebels. British Consul Charles Percival of Galveston arrives tonight to conduct an investigation independent of American authorities, and acting under orders of the British ambassador, Cecil Spring-Rice, at Washington.

The rebels gave out today the news that Luis Terrazas, third, the grandson of Millionaire Terrazas, had joined the federals at Torreon, with the rank of major.

CATHOLIC CLUBS WILL PLAN FOR CO-OPERATION

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—Plans to establish an alliance between representative Catholic clubs and institutes of the country were given a boost last evening at the annual ball and reception of the Philopatrian Literary Institute here. A canvas for members will be made, and a campaign started to federate the other leading Catholic clubs. Only the strongest and most representative in each city is expected to be a member of the chain.

Remember the Christian Science lecture next Thursday evening at the Opera House.

Haitsch Offers Hope of Mental Recovery Today

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 24.—Hope was offered today for the mental recovery of Michael Haitsch, a man who wandered into the police station last Saturday, three days after his relatives in Pennsylvania had received a telegram from him stating that he had been kidnapped and was being held for $200 ransom. He appeared to understand spoken words today for the first time, but merely repeated them and was apparently unable to talk coherently or to answer questions. He childishly imitated all the actions and words of those about him, and appeared in excellent spirits and health. The authorities are awaiting word from his relatives. Haitsch is a Cleveland and supposedly wealthy.

MOVING PICTURES OF MUCH VALUE IN CARE OF INSANE

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 24.—"The use of moving pictures in state institutions has become such an important part of the entertainment and instruction of state charges that they are now indispensable." This statement was made today by C. J. Vassaly, chairman of the Minnesota State Board of Control.

"The motion picture is being found especially valuable in the schools for the deaf and the insane asylums," said Vassaly.

"It has been found especially difficult to get any sort of attraction that will hold the attention of the insane, but the problem seems to have been solved with the movies."

"At different exhibitions of pictures at the state asylum, the inmates were invariably intensely interested by the rapidly changing views."

"It undoubtedly has a good effect upon their mind. At the school for the deaf the motion pictures have proved one of the biggest items in the teaching system, as the educational pictures can be explained by flashing the words on the screen. The movies will undoubtedly grow in importance as time adds educational improvements."

"QUEEN LIL" REVIEWED 7000 AMERICAN TROOPS

HONOLULU, Feb. 24.—Former Queen Liliuokalani sat beside Brigadier General Montgomery M. Macomb in the reviewing stand yesterday, as 7000 American soldiers passed by in review. The troops, marching in a Washington's birthday parade, were reviewed by Governor Pinkham at the capital, and then passed on to the military reviewing stand.

SIXTY-TWO ACRES OF LAND NEAR POLY HIGH TO BE SUBDIVIDED IMMEDIATELY

The biggest subdivision project to materialize locally in the last two or three years is that whereby a corporation known as the Polytechnic Villa Tract Company acquires, for a consideration of from $60,000 to $70,000 the 62-acre property known as the Palmer tract, situated southwest of the new high school. E. G. Holmes, A. J. Visel, P. E. Farnsworth and H. F. Makosky are the local capitalists at the head of the new development scheme. The Polytechnic Villa Tract Company is incorporated, with a capital stock of $75,000, divided into 750 shares having a par value of $100. It is the intention of the company immediately to proceed to the work of improving the property. Streets and lots will be laid out, sewer and water connections installed.

ORANGE SHOW IS WORST STORM OF SEASON IN THE EAST TO CONTINUE THIS WEEK

San Bernardino Royal Exhibit Was Unharmed by Storm Recently Raging from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast

MOST GORGEOUS FRUIT EXPOSITION EVER SEEN

Gov. Johnson Gave Highest Praise—Million Oranges and Lemons on Exhibit

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 24.—The National Orange Show will continue all this week. The executive committee of the exposition made this decision today as the result of appeals from all parts of the state from which railroad communication is at a standstill. The Orange Show will close Saturday night, February 28, instead of Wednesday night, Feb. 25. The exposition was unharmed by the storm of last week. The show was built along rain-proof lines, as the result of previous experience with the gods of rain. Describing it as the most gorgeous fruit exposition ever assembled in the world, travelers are viewing the National Orange Show with wonder. Governor Hiram W. Johnson thus described the exposition:

"I congratulate the people of the citrus fruit districts of California who are represented here in such wonderfully attractive displays of this royal fruit. At no place else in the world would it be possible, and its beauties must fill the eye and delight the senses of every beholder, making the Eastern winter resident in California long to be a part of the state where such things are possible. I wish every Californian might see it and every traveler who looks upon it regret that he is a traveler instead of a Californian."

All of the million oranges and lemons will remain in the citrus art works until the exposition closes.

Fisk.

MILLIONS OF DAMAGE AND SCORES FREEZE TO DEATH

Railroads Paralyzed—Traffic Halted—Days Before it Will Become Normal

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The blizzard is sweeping southeastward with little improvement in transportation conditions. The main line of the Chicago and Alton railroad is being kept open by using rotary snow plows, but the branch lines are impassable. Practically the same condition exists for the other railroads. Railroad men say it will be days before normal traffic is resumed.

CENTRAL NEW YORK IN SHIVERS—COLDEST OF WINTER

THE STORM YESTERDAY WAS MOST TERRIFIC OF SEASON

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The most terrific blizzard of the season raged yesterday and continues today, from the Rockies to the Atlantic. Millions of dollars damage has resulted, for wires are down, scores have been frozen and killed as a result of the cold. The blizzard was accompanied by a forty-five-mile gale, and snow from six inches to two feet deep in many sections, with the mercury varying from 40 below in Montana to 4 above here last night.

MAN JUMPS ELEVEN HUNDRED FEET FROM AEROPLANE, ALIGHTS

Glenn Martin and Passenger Reach Ground Together; Startle Army Men

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 24.—Glenn Martin electrified the government aviators at North Island yesterday morning, climbing 2500 feet into the air in four and a half minutes, getting off the ground in less distance and turning sharper corners than he had ever done before, while his gliding in the high air and sudden descent to earth were beyond anything ever before seen at North Island. Both the Wright and Curtiss camps, as well as army aviators, were loud in their praise of the Santa Ana boy and his Los Angeles-made tractor.

Boatload after boatload went from San Diego to North Island to see the Martin machine and even those knowing little about aircraft were quick to notice the superior lines and workmanship of the Martin tractor, which, though lighter than those of the government, carried four passengers as easily as the eastern-made ones did two.

When Charley Broadwick made his parachute jump from Martin's machine 1150 feet from the ground and while the aeroplane was traveling nearly a mile a minute, the crowd became extra enthusiastic. Captain Cowan, who is in charge of the government camp here, usually noncommittal, said:

"This parachute is probably not the ultimate in safety appliances for aviators, but it is certainly the most advanced apparatus in use today. The descent was perfect."

It was generally conceded that if Lieutenant Post had been supplied with Broadwick's parachute pack or vest he would not have met his death a few days ago when he fell out of his machine from a height of 500 feet.

"TURNPIKE JOHN" PROUD OF HOMELY NICKNAME

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Representative Langley of Kentucky has the nickname "back home" of "Turnpike John." And by heck, sir, he's proud of it. He told the house recently during debate on the good roads bill that nobody could accuse him of playing politics on the $25,000,000 pork barrel shine of the eternal Kentucky mountains, he had gained his title of "Turnpike John" because he was a red hot advocate of the good roads movement.

MEXICANS STILL DENY KNOWLEDGE OF COMPTON

Some of His Relatives Here Convinced He has Been Shot--Nation-Wide Interest, But no Word Yet

With American consuls at Juarez and Chihuahua declaring that no trace of Harry Compton can be found, Compton's relatives here and in Garden Grove and Oakland are helpless.

The Mexican authorities declare they know nothing of Compton. They say he was never under arrest.

That might satisfy the relatives were it not for the letter received by Mrs. Compton at Oakland from her husband, Harry Compton, who is a son of Mrs. G. W. Rolfe of Garden Grove, a sister of Mrs. Charles Meeks of Garden Grove and a cousin of L. A. Schlessinger of Santa Ana.

That letter was written in prison at Chihuahua. Compton stated that he then had handcuffs on him, but had a revolver concealed in his boot. It was his intention to fight.

The letter said that if he got free his wife would hear from him immediately. If no word came from him, the wife might know he was executed. No word has come. The letter stated execution was set for February 15.

L. A. Schlessinger believes that his cousin is dead. He points out that in the telegraph items of a few days ago was an item that seven men were taken out and shot at Juarez. There was nothing to show who they were. Schlessinger fears Compton was one of them.

Congressman Kettner has been active in Washington with the state department in furthering the investigation. A wire received by H. C. Head, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, from Kettner reads:

"State department has made strenuous efforts to locate Harry Compton. American consuls at Juarez and Chihuahua report that they have been unable to find any trace and Mexican officials deny any knowledge of him."

The secret service department of the government has requested that the original letter received by Mrs. Compton at Oakland be sent to the department. Mrs. Rolfe last night wired Mrs. Compton to comply with the request.

Yesterday in answer to a message received from the Garden Grove News, the El Paso Times wired:

"Have been in communication with Consul Edwards at Juarez and Consul Letcher at Chihuahua. Both say no arrest of Compton has been made, that he has not been shot and is not in jail. Will continue investigation, but believe you need have no fear about Compton."

There is a great deal of interest at Garden Grove in the matter, for Compton's mother and sister are well known old time residents of the place. Compton spent a month at Garden Grove last summer building a cottage for his mother.

Appeal to Kettner
A Washington dispatch to the Los Angeles Times says:

With interest in the Mexican situation acute because of the killing of William S. Benton, a British subject, it has become additionally so for the California delegation because of appeals in behalf of Harry Compton, whose address is given as Oakland, but whose mother lives at Garden Grove, Orange county.

Representative Kettner has been giving special attention to Compton's case. He received dispatches from H. C. Head, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee of Orange county, saying Compton had been arrested at Juarez and it was feared he would be shot. Mr. Kettner took the matter up with the State Department and inquiries were sent to the consuls at Juarez and Chihuahua.

Mr. Kettner in reply was told that inquiries by the consul failed to elicit any information whatever as to Compton. In view of the Benton shooting and the disappearance of various Americans, Mr. Kettner suspects the truth regarding Compton is concealed by the Mexicans, but apparently nothing more can be done about it.

Cannot Locate Him

A dispatch from El Paso, Tex., says:

In a telegram to the American consul general at Juarez, Gen. Villa suggests that the Americans reported missing in Mexico may be included in a batch of American recruits which he says he has rejected and will send back to Juarez by the first train.

Villa's telegram says there are fifteen of these Americans who wished to join his forces, but whom he has found unavailable. At present search is being made for Harry Compton of Oakland, Cal., Roger Laurence, an Englishman who came here recently to visit William S. Benton, who was killed last Tuesday by the rebels; a New Mexico ranchman by the name of Curtis, said to have joined Laurence in the search for Benton, and Gustav Bauch, officially reported to have been taken to Chihuahua for further investigation on the charge of being a spy.

United States consular representatives at Juarez and Chihuahua have been searching for trace of Compton, but he is neither in the jails nor courts, according to report made to them by constitutionalist officials, who also say they never had him under arrest.

A private message from W. E. Perry of Garden Grove, asked for information concerning the missing man. It is said a letter had been received from Harry Compton dated in the Chihuahua jail and was a prisoner removed to Juarez on February 15, which was also the date set for his execution. He did not say in the letter on what charge he had been arrested.

General Is Busy

Gen. Hugh L. Scott also received a request from citizens of Garden Grove, Cal., to assist in locating the man because of his broken-hearted mother, and the military have taken up the search. The message to Gen. Scott said a direct appeal had been made to President Wilson to take steps to have the constitutionalists give up information concerning Compton.

Consul Edwards was instructed today by Secretary of State Bryan to locate Compton if possible and report on the alleged arrest and execution of the American. Similar instructions were telegraphed to Consul Marion Letcher at Chihuahua to conduct an investigation there. Both consuls immediately took up the matter. Consul Edwards called on Col. Fidel Avila, jefe de las armas at Juarez, but he said he had never had Compton in the Juarez jail, that no Americans had been executed in Juarez and that he had never heard of Compton.

From Chihuahua Consul Letcher telegraphed to Consul Edwards to relay to the State Department the report that Gen. Francisco Villa denied knowledge of Compton, and notified him that Compton had never been arrested or to his knowledge had been in Mexico. These reports were forwarded to the State Department.

MINE SAFETY LAW UPHOLD BY COURT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The supreme court today declared valid the Pennsylvania "mine safety" law requiring the coal companies to leave pillars of coal to prevent cave-ins. The decision test case was brought by the Plymouth Coal Company against State Mine Inspector David Davis.

The Plymouth Coal Company of Luzerne county, Pa., squarely challenged the constitutionality of the law. It asserted that the law was an unreasonable exercise of the state's police power and that it could mine coal as it saw fit, without interference from state officials. The officials secured an injunction against the company, the Pennsylvania courts upholding the law.

The law provides that owners of adjoining coal mines must so mine their coal as to leave coal "pillars" along adjoining property as supports for the adjoins or floors. The law gives the state mine inspector authority to prescribe the size and strength of the pillars.

WOULD HAVE PEOPLE CELEBRATE AS ONE

DENVER, Feb. 24.—In an effort "to nationalize patriotism" in the United States, to make the citizens of every nationality come together in a body and celebrate as one people instead of individual nations, the patriotic societies of Denver, under the name of the Washington-Lincoln Commemorative Association, joined to celebrate the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington simultaneously Saturday. The promoters hope their plan will be followed by patriotic bodies all over the United States next year. Governor Elias M. Ammons is one of the principal leaders in the movement. The celebration was held in the municipal auditorium. Red white and blue formed the principal decorations, but each nation represented has been given one box to decorate in its national colors. In this box were seated the representatives of that nation garbed in their national dress.

The program represented every nationality in the United States. The flag salute by school children opened the program followed by the Highland fling and Scotch, Irish, Welsh and Swedish songs and patriotic drills by Italian, Greek and Japanese societies, German, English, French and Russian songs, concluding with the national American anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner." A tableau closed the program—"The Spirit of 1914," with Columbia seated, surrounded by representatives of all nations on the globe.

FIRST VOTES WOMEN IN CHICAGO

Over 150,000 Registered But Blizzards Kept Many from the Polls

MISS MARIAN DRAKE MAY OPPOSE BATHHOUSE JOHN

Women's Campaign Has Made Voters Sit Up and Take Notice in Windy City

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The first actual test of strength of the woman vote in the largest equal suffrage city in the world was made here today. Chicago women cast their ballots for the first time since the Illinois suffrage law was enacted and participated in the primaries to choose candidates for the board of aldermen. Eight women candidates for council seats were on the ballots today—three Progressives, three Socialists and two Democrats. Four of them have opposition in the primaries, but the names of the other four are certain to be placed on the election ballots for April 7.

Around these four women candidates who must fight for party endorsement most of the interest in the outcome of today's primaries centered, but the important part in the even more important part in the other twenty-seven wards—that offered no women candidates. In these wards male candidates, astonished at the size of the suffragist registration on February 3, bid against each other for the support of women's organizations in one of the liveliest primary campaigns in the city's history. For three weeks the play to the suffragist section of the galleries on the part of aldermanic candidates, city officials and opposing party factions, has been one of the most important and significant developments in the political history of Chicago. Aldermen who discarded quids and tobacco suddenly discovered that the spitting evil was the one great crime of the age, when women's organizations urged action upon them council committees got very busy, and Mayor Harrison and his police department even busier. The official word that 158,026 women had registered at their first opportunity had scarcely been given out when the police began making wholesale arrests of persons who expected on the sidewalks.

BLIZZARDS DETER MANY WOMEN FROM THE POLLS

While the registration of women was over 150,000, it is estimated that only half of these went to the polls on account of the blizzard. Miss Marian H. Drake, stenographer-suffragist, who is a candidate for the Progressive nomination in the First ward, is believed to be almost certain of obtaining the nomination over Karl N. Wehle, her male opponent, who counts his strength among the negro population in the First. Only 1635 women voters are registered in the First, but Miss Drake will have the backing of influential male Progressives. If she wins the nomination she will oppose the notorious "Bathhouse John" Coughlin, Democrat, in the April 7 election.

RITCHIE PLANS EIGHT FIGHTS IN EIGHT MONTHS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—One of the most ambitious campaigns ever planned by any fighter was being mapped out here today by Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world. Two motives were back of the money. First and foremost was the money angle. The other was the determination of the champion to disprove the charges of cowardice hurled in his direction when injuries prevented the fulfillment of two engagements here with Harlem Tommy Murphy. A fight a month at $15,000 per fight from April to November is the campaign planned by Ritchie. He may also accept several ten-round engagements in New York and Milwaukee providing he can get his price of $10,000 for thirty minutes' work. Most of the battles, provided the champion does not meet with a setback, will be staged in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

If Ritchie is victorious in his battle here April 3 with Harlem Tommy Murphy he intends going right down the line, fighting at least once a month. He hopes to clean up $115,000 before the end of December. Then he may go to Australia and fight Herb McCoy in Sydney on New Year's day. "Snowy" Baker offered Ritchie $17,500 and two round-trip tickets to meet McCoy on Easter Monday, but the champion's engagement with Murphy prevented his acceptance.

PRISONER GONE ARM IS BROKEN SHERIFF IS ANXIOUS IN AVOIDING COLLISION

Illinois Officer Not at All Pleased Because Rigrish Was Freed
Roy Spangler Injured by Fall from Motorcycle About Sunday Noon

Sheriff Miller of Frankfort, Ind., has arrived, but as yet he has not found the man he wants to take back to Frankfort with him. The man, D. W. Rigrish, was under arrest here for ten days, and Justice Cox came to the conclusion that the man had been held long enough. Saturday morning the charge of being a fugitive from justice was dismissed, and Rigrish left the county jail. He hired a rig to take him to West Anaheim.

Sunday the Indiana sheriff called up from Los Angeles. He was told that Rigrish had been freed. The officer declared he had telegraphed from Sacramento. If so, the wire was not received here.

Miller has hired a Los Angeles deputy sheriff to help him locate Rigrish. Local officers are also keeping a lookout for the prisoner.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

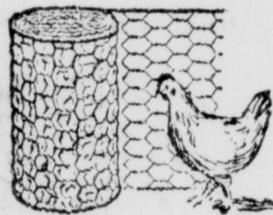

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Advertisement.

DEBATE LAST FRIDAY WAS WON BY SANTA ANA

In spite of all the opposition the rain could offer, the debate with Huntington Beach was held last Friday evening. Only one judge showed up, but two local people were appointed, although Huntington Beach insisted on the one judge giving a decision that should count all three points. But the result would have been just the same as every one of the judges gave their decision in favor of Santa Ana. The agreement of the judges here will in all probability stand as official.

At Anaheim, where the affirmative team was to have spoken, the debate was called off on the failure of the judges to put in an appearance. This debate will probably be held in Santa Ana some time this week.

Estelle Nisson and Stanley Mansur, who gave Huntington Beach such a severe reception, have both improved a great deal since their first appearance. Their opponents were the same as in the previous contest, and while they had improved considerably, they were beaten as badly as before.

Miss Nisson, the first speaker, graduates this year and will leave quite a gap in the debating ranks, but Mr. Mansur will return next year to a chance to defend the cup that will surely be brought here.

Fulerton and Huntington Beach are practically out of the race, and the debate here with Anaheim this week will decide the championship. Miss Louise Grubb and Vier Robinson will represent Santa Ana in the coming contest and their chances for bringing the cup here are the best.

M'DANNALD WRITES ABOUT THE NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW, SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 20.—I came up yesterday to see an exhibition of citrus fruits, and I have not been disappointed. They are here, every mother's darling of them, tanned and fair. The entire universe has been explored with a fine-tooth comb, and not a specimen allowed to escape.

And they have been arranged in many fantastic forms and designs. Nearly every conceivable thing, from the firmament above to the utilities of man are fashioned here from the citrus groves. Chariot horses, four abreast, coming under the wires, neck and neck. A Santa Fe limited trying to make up a few hours lost time, caused by the recent freshet.

The "Old Town Clock," marking time with measured beat, just in the hours behind the schedule, but that doesn't matter, for time is of no consequence where it rains every hour of the day. Newport Bay, with coastwise steamers laden to the water's edge with an orange cargo, and other ocean craft tied to her wharves awaiting clearances. And the old familiar wharf, where you and I and all of us have beguiled away so many expectant hours angling for the denizens of the briny deep—that never came. And the old familiar sign, "Don't clean fish here." I used to regard that sign as a great joke, for I never had any fish to clean.

The Placentia people have done it, and have done it well. They have scoured the waste places of the desert. They have gone into the heart of "Darkest Africa," have followed the tributaries of the Nile to the fountain head, and have brought with them the trophies of the chase, and here we find them, exhibited for our amusement and education. Their table display contains 59 specimens, and is said to be the largest and most comprehensive collection of citrus fruits ever made at an orange show. For the benefit of the Register readers I am going to quote the list as I got from the display cards.

Oranges—Ruby Blood, Navel Blood, Jaffa, Golden Nugget navel, Pierce navel, St. Michael (paper rind), Washington navel, small St. Michael, budded seedling, Red St. Michael, Navelina, Dundee marmalade, McFadden navel, Valencia, Navel St. Michael, Australian navel, large St. Michael, Mediterranean Sweet, King Orange, seedling, Malta Blood, Coffman seedling, Thompson's Imp, rose navel, Brazilian Bitter.

Lemons—Lisbon, Eureka, Sweet, Bonnie Brae, China, white lemon, orange lime, Marsh's seedless orange, Brazilian Bitter, Florida Bell, Mexican limes, Lemon Valencia, sweet lime.

Orange Grapefruit—Triumph, Parson Brown, Canton Hybrid, Kincaid, Tahiti seedless lime, Tangerine—Ladlock, Willow Leaf, Mandarin, Satsuma, Un-shine, Joppa—orange, Villa Franca lemon, seedling grapefruit, Satsuma, Broad Leaf Mandarin, Steama Tangerine.

Besides this prize winning table display, the Placentia people have grapefruit, singly and in cluster, as large as cart wheels, and box upon box of the most toothsome looking navel, and Valencia two years old, fresh from the tree. I think these Placentia folks are entitled to a "hat lift" from every man, woman and child in Orange county for the splendid advertising they are doing for the whole county, and I feel in the right mood just now to doff my lid to them. The work being done by these people becomes more conspicuous when I learn they have no land to sell. Most of them went to Placentia because the land up there was cheap. They have eaten the bitter crust, and are enjoying what is rightly theirs, the portion lying between the rind and the core. Last year their efforts here were rewarded by the winning of a beautiful silver trophy and several smaller prizes. What their winnings will amount to this year, remains yet in doubt.

Yours truly,
D. W. McDANNALD.

9 MILLION CABBAGES ESTIMATE OF CROP IN ORANGE COUNTY

Los Angeles Tribune: Nine million cabbages is the estimated crop of Orange county this season, which promises to break all records for 2000 acres in the history of truck gardening, according to freight traffic officials of the railroads, whose statisticians have been lately inspecting the area devoted to cabbages. This is a gain of thirty-three per cent over last year.

Shipments will begin March 1, and an output of 800 carloads is considered conservative in view of the splendid conditions of the soil owing to the generous rains, and the well-known yield of the Orange county truck gardens in previous years.

Particularly choice are Southern California's cabbages. Their fine flavor has made them favorites in Chicago and elsewhere. Their firmness, crispness, weight and beauty of form has made them popular with shippers, who realize that the California cabbage can travel 2000 miles and arrive on the market in splendid shape. The industry is becoming more important each year.

Los Angeles county raises lots of cabbages, too, but most of these are consumed at home.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Thick

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Notadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—Advertisement.

SPLENDID STATION PROPOSED BY S. P. FOR LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles Tribune: Within a year Los Angeles will have one of the largest railroad stations west of Chicago, sufficient, it is asserted, for a population of 1,000,000 persons, and an ornament to the city.

Actual construction on the Southern Pacific's new Arcade station, the plans for which are being checked by the chief inspector of buildings, and a permit for which may be issued today or tomorrow, will be begun within a week.

The new station will be of classic design, embodying the best features of Roman-Doric architecture. Its face will be of pressed brick and plaster, painted light gray color.

Waiting Room to Hold 5000 feet long, 80 feet wide and 54 feet high at the highest point. In it will be embodied the best features known to architects and railroad men for handling the traveling public.

The most notable features of the interior will be the main waiting room, 210 feet long, 70 feet wide and 45 feet from floor to ceiling. It is estimated this waiting room will comfortably hold 5000 persons. Here will be telegraph offices, news stands and other public conveniences.

PALMER RANCH AT VILLA PARK IS SOLD

Orange News: The C. A. Palmer ranch, near Villa Park, was sold Saturday to H. G. Heinaman of Olive for a consideration of $26,000. The ranch consists of ten acres set to Valencia and lemons.

This is the third ten-acre ranch in the same vicinity which was sold recently for $25,000 or better. The Whitsett ranch, which brought $25,000, is across the road from the Palmer ranch; and the Paxton ranch, which also brought $25,000, is not far away.

The purchaser has lived near Olive for six years and already has twenty-three acres of orange land. The deal was handled by the Olive Realty Company.

WORK FIRST STREET GRADING AND GRAVEL

City Trustee Grubb is making arrangements for putting East First street into shape from the Santa Fe railroad to the city limits at Maybury street. This road is full of holes and will be graded it and put on some gravel. While there is a movement on foot to pave this street, the time when paving will be done is somewhere in the future. One reason for doing the improvement work now is that East Fourth street is soon to be torn up, and a good deal of traffic now on that street will be diverted to East First.

FRANCISCAN MISSION IS NEARING ITS CLOSE

The interesting and fruitful mission, which for ten days has been conducted in St. Joseph's church by the Franciscan fathers, will come to a close with the fathers' devotions tomorrow, Ash Wednesday and the beginning of Lent.

Despite the rainy weather, Fathers Humilus and Aloysius, together with the pastor, Monsignor Eummelen, are highly pleased with the success of the mission, which has brought back into the fold many who had fallen away from some cause or other, warmed the hearts of the indifferent and strengthened those of the devout.

The sermons of the past few days have been eloquent and full of truth and beauty. On Saturday evening, Father Aloysius spoke on "Judgment," making it clear to his hearers that while upon earth the sinner can presume to the limit upon the tender mercy of God, but after death the soul faces only a God of justice.

On Sunday there were three masses, at each of which telling instructions were given. Again in the afternoon Father Humilus preached on "The Blessed Sacrament," telling of the beautiful cornerstone of the Roman Catholic church, and without which all of the heroic sacrifices made by priests, nuns, brothers and other holy people would be lacking. He explained the belief of Catholics that Christ is really and substantially present in the tabernacle on the altars of Catholic churches and gave ample proof that Christ meant what he said when he took the words: "This is my body; this is my blood."

In the evening a subject of which few like to hear was most delicately but tellingly handled. "Hell" was the subject, but last evening that comforting belief of Catholics in a middle place or "Purgatory" was explained, also the need of souls being purged in that place, for the prayers of their loved ones on earth. Christ has said that nothing defiled can enter heaven, and who of us is free from sin? And yet there are many of us who lead good and pure lives in the service of God who should not be doomed to everlasting punishment. Many proofs of this beautiful belief were urged for the consideration of the large audience, among whom were many non-Catholics, who have attended the different devotions of the mission and learned many things of which they have been ignorant.

Last evening Father Aloysius also told of the veneration which the children of the Catholic church have for the Blessed Virgin Mary, the beloved mother of God.

This evening the subject for the sermon will be "Jesus Christ, the Founder of the Church."

Ash Wednesday is a holy day of obligation and there will be three masses, at six, eight and nine o'clock. Ashes will be distributed at each mass.

Following the mission, the Forty Hours' Devotion, one of the most beautiful in the church, will commence at 10 o'clock mass and close with high mass on Tuesday morning.

On Sunday afternoon, the third order of St. Francis was organized, with 100 members, who were vested with the scapular and girdle. Rev. Father Eummelen is the director.

"Faultless" Houdans

This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large size chalk-white eggs; these fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best of all winter layers in open farm coops.

Faultless strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years; eggs and stock sold on honor; send 10c for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. E. F. MacAVOY, secretary Houdan Club, Cambridge, N. Y.

ANOTHER BATCH OF HEROES

Thirty more certified heroes were created by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, in connection with their annual meeting. This makes a total of 871 that so far have received reward.

Most of the beneficiaries of these awards seem to be quiet or even obscure people, the presence in whom of possibilities of grand self sacrifice would not be guessed until some moment of crisis. Lacking this chance for self devotion, they might pass through life with their possibilities unrecognized. The hero fund must be very valuable, in giving these fine and quiet persons a considerable reputation. This attracts attention to their worthiness, wins public confidence, and helps give them better chances and broader opportunities in life.

The commission's records show awards to only about 8 per cent of the persons for whom application was made for recognition as heroes. One man lost some false teeth while swimming out for a friend, and asked for a new set. A woman who ran out without wraps to help the victims of an automobile accident, wanted a reward for taking the risk of pneumonia. Some of the applications have been fakes. Sometimes under the scrutiny of weather records, the terrific storm in which a water rescue was effected, turns out to be a still and sunny day.

A force of ten expert hero sleuths spends all its time hunting down these cases. All these men are former newspaper reporters, which calling the commission feels gives superior qualifications for hunting out and adjudging evidence.

These awards can not directly stimulate acts of heroism. The hero is not a fellow who bargains for medals, pensions, or fame. But the emphasis given to these stories of devotion must create an atmosphere of admiration of the heroic. Indirectly, this may cultivate a tendency toward heroic acts.

A REAL NERVE AND BODY-BUILDING MEDICINE

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up wasted tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run down, tired-out, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for its good effect upon alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. It may not make you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, you are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains have a chance to get into the blood and through the blood into the rest of the system. Pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which, as a nerve-food and a builder of strength and health, we believe, has no equal.

If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and build your health and strengthen your system against more serious illness. To convalescents, old people, puny children and all others who are weak, run-down or ailing, we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with our personal promise that, if it doesn't make you well and strong again, it will cost you nothing. If we didn't have the utmost faith in it, we wouldn't offer it with this guarantee, nor even recommend it to you. We are sure that once you have used it you will recommend it to your friends, and thank us for having recommended it to you. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. Mateer's Drug Store, 106 W. Fourth, Santa Ana.

Rulings of the Industrial Accident Commission Interpreting the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act

As a result of a widespread request from employers, attorneys and employees throughout the state, the Industrial Accident Commission has interpreted several of the more important clauses of the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act previous to any case having been brought before it for adjudication. The following rulings are not to be looked upon as being the final opinions of the commission; they have been made subject to change or modification.

Chauffeurs

The commission holds that chauffeurs, private or otherwise, come under the compensation provisions of the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act without any election on the part of the employer being necessary. They are not to be classed as household domestic servants.

Ambulance Fees

It has also expressed itself as being of the opinion that the reasonable cost of necessary transportation immediately connected with the injury is a proper charge for medical treatment under the compensation act.

Volunteer Fire Departments and Public Officers Working Without Salary

It has ruled that members of volunteer fire departments, or public officers working without salary, will allow the passage of toy boats. It will be built to scale. The first round-the-world air flight is planned to start from the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in May, 1915. Airmen from all the nations of civilization, in aircraft of every type, will contend for the largest prize fund ever offered in any sporting event in history, and $300,000 will be distributed among the victors. The route will pass eastward across the American continent, the Atlantic, Europe, Russia, Asia and the Pacific, ocean to Alaska; thence the flyers will proceed to San Francisco. A time limit of 90 days is placed upon the contest, which will have the sanction of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the central organization of aeronautical bodies in every civilized country on the globe.

The Reichstag of Germany has approved the expenditure of 500,000 marks, or $125,000 for an exhibit of the potash industry of Germany at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The exhibit will show potash in various forms, and will demonstrate the value of the fertilizer by showing the growth of plants and trees where potash is used.

A "Bee Exhibit" is being planned under the direction of Thomas G. Stallsmith, chief of the department of agriculture of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The bees, installed in glass hives, where visitors can watch queens, workers and males, will have the range of the many hundred acres of flowers which will be blooming upon the grounds continuously for the ten months of the exposition. The colors of the official flag of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition are blue, gold and orange. At fly and hoist there is a blue triangle, the apices of each centering in a gold oval in the middle of the flag, upon which a blue battleship is silhouetted. Above and below the central figure are fields of orange.

Eight of the nine renowned painters engaged to produce the mural decorations for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition are busily engaged setting up their canvases in an improvised studio in the huge Palace of Machinery. The artists are Edward Simmons, Frank Du Mond, William I. Dodge, E. Milton Bancroft, Robert Reid, Charles Halloway, Childe Hassam and Arthur Matthews. Frank Brangwyn, the ninth painter, is in London and is not expected here until October, when he will come with finished canvases. The other decorators have assembled in San Francisco with half-finished paintings so that they may tone their canvases to the color scheme of the exposition.

A model of the Panama Canal, 500 feet in length, will be among the exhibits by the United States government at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Of the $500,000 appropriated by Congress for federal exhibits, $50,000 has been turned over to the Isthmian Canal Commission for the construction of the model. The model, complete in all work-

PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD MAKES DEPLY

Editor Register:

I desire space in your columns to answer so much of Mr. Keech's communication in your last issue as is of public interest, and to correct some misleading statements.

Mr. Keech would have the public believe that the Board of Education could under the law have required the architect to enter into a contract to erect the buildings of the poly group for $160,000, or failing this, could have forfeited to the taxpayers of Santa Ana a $50,000 bond. Such is not the case. The bond referred to was required as provided by law but before the plans were completed the attorney general of California ruled that as architects are no longer builders, boards of education could not require them to enter into contracts to erect buildings under the terms of this obsolete law. The bond, therefore, served no useful purpose except to enable the board to comply with the terms of the law. No compensation was allowed to the architects, however, until bids were opened and contracts awarded for two buildings of the group.

Mr. Keech complains because some prominent citizens were not invited on the platform at the laying of the cornerstone, and their names mentioned in "laudatory remarks." There were no "laudatory remarks" of any particular individuals on that occasion so far as I can recall, and I do not believe there are any people in Santa Ana who wished to be invited on the stage and lauded to the skies before an astonished public. Surely this part of the article does not represent anyone in Santa Ana, not even Mr. Keech's sober second thought.

The election for poly bonds was held in December, 1911. Since that time the attendance in the high school has increased more than 60 per cent. After providing the necessary recitation rooms and study halls to accommodate the increased attendance no money was left with which to build an auditorium. Every room in the school is in use and more will be needed to accommodate the increased attendance that can be expected next fall.

Santa Ana is growing very fast and we all expect a large addition to our population as a result of the fair in 1915. The Polytechnic High School is Santa Ana's strongest drawing card and the buildings ought all to be completed before the fair opens.

The citizens of Santa Ana are invited to visit the school, go through the buildings and determine from a careful inspection whether their money has been wisely spent.

W. L. DUGGAN.

Since the sentencing of Lawrence Englinger by Judge Thomas last week I have heard some criticism on the sentence not being as severe as it should have been. In sustaining the judge in what he did I wish to say that after listening to the evidence and thinking it over carefully we all thought he should be given a chance to make good. Under the law and our oaths we were obliged to bring in the verdict we did (believing all of us) and those knowing the judge best knew to a certainty that Englinger would get a chance to show if he would now be a man and make good, we recommended him to the clemency of the court.

DINNER PARTY

Pleasant Evening Function at Spurgeon Street Home of the French's

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. French very delightfully entertained with a pretty dinner party on last Friday evening at their Spurgeon street home. Dinner was served in six courses at six thirty o'clock, and the table was perfection in its appointments.

Waxy hyacinths in vases adorned with pink tulle bows were seen at either end of the table while a plateau mirror reflected the beauties of lively fancies which nestled with ferns in a gilded basket on which were tied bows of filmy pink tulle. Following the dinner, the evening was spent in merry old-fashioned games including a peanut race and similar diversions. Dignity was laid aside for a few hours and all entered into the spirit of fun untrammelled by formality.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. O. S. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smart, Judge and Mrs. Z. B. West, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carden, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Winslow.

Surprise Birthday Dinner

The Father of our Country was not the only one to have his birthday celebrated Sunday, and in honor of Mr. Jim Westbrook, his wife prepared a special chicken dinner with the accompanying birthday cake and candles. On account of the double celebration, the national flag was much in evidence.

Those present to enjoy the dinner were Mr. Westbrook, the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hayes, Mr. Emmett Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nussebaum and Mrs. Westbrook.

Rare Treat for Art Club

At the February meeting of the Art Club, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Padgham on East Ninth street, last Wednesday evening, the members and visiting friends were wholly unprepared for the genuine treat in store. Miss Minnie C. Childs of Chicago, whose work in water color and china painting has been the admiration of many at national exhibits, and who is otherwise well known all over the United States as a contributor and designer for prominent art journals, addressed the club on "The Progress of American Art, Painting, Ceramics, Pottery."

In spite of inclement weather Miss Childs succeeded in bringing to the club a rare collection of some of her finest pottery and pictures. The enthusiasm and admiration of her audience was unbounded, and as the exquisite pieces—all prize winners at various exhibitions—were handed from one to another, only words of sincere appreciation were expressed for the generous kindness of the artist who had brought such inspiration and pleasure to the company assembled in the interest of art.

It would be difficult indeed to fittingly describe the beauty that greeted the eyes on every side. A large, circular china plaque showing a design of luscious grapes, was one of the pieces most admired. The delicacy of color and beauty of design were exquisitely rare. Another design of roses painted on a very large vase was equally admired, and smaller vases decorated with beautiful flower designs—one of Easter lilies, another flower-deuce and two of birds—were viewed with delight, helping everyone to realize more fully that a "thing of beauty is indeed a joy forever."

Considerable interest was shown in the collection of hand-made pottery, and all listened attentively to Miss Childs' remarks on "Indian Pottery," leading up from primitive methods to the great perfection of work done at the present time in our own country and in Europe. It was gratifying to know that some of the finest work exhibited by Miss Childs was painted on American ware and that the United States is keeping pace with Europe in things artistic along the line of pottery.

The pictures of the exhibit were all in water color, two of which were kindly loaned by Mrs. Utt of Tustin. One of the charming marines, showing the surf of the Pacific ocean with dashing spray, was painted at much admired Laguna Beach. Another moonlight marine in darker color tones proves that the artist evidently understands the contour of breaking waves and is expressive of the "low, deep, mellow voice of the restless ocean."

An Indiana landscape in mid-summer was pleasing in its composition, with a fine old tree in the foreground, from which a winding road leads one into the beauties of the shrubbery beyond.

The generous enthusiasm of the artist was such that everyone present entered into the spirit of the occasion and were unwilling to depart even at a late hour, realizing that surely the world holds much more that is beautifully attractive for the eye than is trained to see the beauty in common things.

Miss Childs kindly invited the assembled friends and club members to visit her at her Tustin home and enjoy to the fullest the many art treasures, too numerous to bring on this occasion. The invitation was sincerely appreciated and undoubtedly will be accepted by many.

Members of the club who have recently visited the galleries and exhibits in Los Angeles wish to urge art lovers of Santa Ana to see the splendid pictures now to be seen at the museum at University Park, also the Wm. Wendt, A. N. A., president of the California Art Club, and Jean Mannheim, vice-president of the same club, exhibition of pictures from Feb. 7 to March 9, at the Friday Morning Club house, at 940 South Figueroa street, and a rare collection of Wm. Keith landscapes and Cuprien marine pictures to be viewed at the Kunst Gallery at 642 South Spring street, Los Angeles.

The president of the Art Club of Santa Ana, Mrs. Ratcliff, expressed the hearty appreciation of all present and thanked Miss Childs for the great pleasure and inspiration of the evening. Enthusiastic members look forward to the day when Santa Ana can enjoy, at home, a fine art exhibition open to the public at large and especially to the children of the public schools.

NEWS OF DR. W. B. CARR'S DEATH RECEIVED HERE

News has been received here of the death of Dr. W. B. Carr, formerly a resident for two years of Santa Ana, where he was for some time associated with Dr. A. R. Hervey in the dental business. Dr. Carr had been for the three months past in the Stephens Point (Wisconsin) Sanitarium, and his death occurred on Monday, February 14.

He leaves a young wife, to whom he was married after a romantic courtship beginning in Yellowstone Park and whom he brought to Santa Ana shortly after their wedding, living here for a year after the marriage. The Carrs then went to Minneapolis, Minn., where they have since resided. The friends Dr. Carr made while here, which were many, as he was a young man of genial disposition, will regret to learn of his death and will sympathize deeply with his bereaved wife.

SEAL BEACH ADOPTED BY U. S. AS POSTOFFICE NAME

The Orange county beach resort long known as Bay City but which of late has taken on a wonderful development under the name of Seal Beach, will hereafter be known by the latter name as the government has adopted the name of Seal Beach for postoffice purposes. This will of course obliterate the old name of Bay City, by which the beach town was so long known, but which caused much confusion with San Francisco and another Bay City in the north.

TO OUR PATRONS

—Owing to the washouts on the railroads our stock of meats ordered for Friday and Saturday failed to arrive and the result was that we ran out of some kinds of meats. We did all that could be done under the circumstances. We bought and slaughtered the best beef cattle we could find in this vicinity, but even then we were unable to supply our trade in as satisfactory a manner as we usually do.

We are now being supplied as heretofore with the best of government inspected beef, pork, mutton and other meats, and trust that our patrons will overlook the unavoidable shortage of the past few days.

Lady Sibyl Grant Writes Book of Poems

Lady Sibyl Grant, the eldest daughter of Lord Rosebery, former premier of Great Britain, has just published a book of satirical verse, "Pleasant Pleon," which is said by English critics to be very interesting. She is the author of several other works of light literature. She and her husband are popular members of London society. But literature is only one of her lines. She has been an exhibitor of dogs in shows in London and has won some prizes.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Grand
G. M. Anderson will present to local theater-goers on next Friday at the Grand Opera House, his latest triumph success, "How Dye Do," which comes direct here after a record-breaking engagement at the Morisco Theater in Los Angeles.

Here is a musical comedy success that fairly eclipses the success of its predecessor, "The Candy Shop," and when this statement is made one can readily understand and realize what a treat is in store for play-goers of this city.

Prominent in the cast are such artists of rare excellence as Bickel and Watson, Walter Catlett, Norton and Lee, Arthur Clough, Howard and Laurence, Edward Beck, Winifred Bryson, and Carmen Phillips.

A typical Anderson beauty chorus of fifty will lend not only beauty to the many stage pictures but will likewise and greatly to the many vocal ensembles.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine to-night—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Advertisement.

DISCUSS NET CONTAINER ACT

Santa Ana Grocers Talk Over Law that Goes Into Effect April First

At the city hall last night a meeting of grocers of Santa Ana was held for the purpose of discussing the net container law, which goes into effect on April 1. The working of the law comes under the jurisdiction of George McPhee, county sealer of weights and measures.

The grocers agreed that the law is a good thing, and that they will do their best to carry out its provisions without friction. In order that they may protect themselves, it was agreed that each grocer should notify the wholesale men that the grocer is going to follow the law and that goods bought from the wholesaler hereafter must be marked in accordance with the law.

The law specifies that each container in which a commodity, not a drug, shall be offered for sale must bear the exact amount of the contents of the container, either in ounces, pounds, gallons, etc. The act provides that any package made up to sell for less than ten cents need not have the label of net contents attached.

WITTIEST, PRETTIEST AND MOST CHARMING

The wittiest, prettiest and altogether most charming of French operettas, "Adele," was the attraction at the Grand last night, and was played to a delighted audience.

A simple, but sufficiently substantial little plot affords excuse for much clever dialogue, many amusing situations, and a number of tuneful songs and choruses. "Adele" is billed as a show without a chorus, since each one of the number of good-looking girls has a few lines of her own—but chorus or not, there were plenty of pretty girls, with plenty of fashionable gowns. The scenery was exceptionally fine, and an augmented orchestra made the musical end of the show vastly pleasing.

Adele, the little convent-bred leading lady, was played and sung with much grace and charm by Carolyn Thomson, a very youthful prima donna whose delightful girlishness, together with a soprano voice of rare purity and sweetness made her a delight to the eye as well as to the ear. John Park was a beautifully groomed and extremely prepossessing Baron de Chantilly, who also had a voice—an excellent tenor, enjoyable in solo work, but at its best in his duets with Adele and the adorable Marylane. Marylane was sung by Nanette Flack, who is without any doubt one of the most beautiful women who has ever been seen on the local stage. Her gowns were ravishingly beautiful, and in the last act, in a rose-printed chiffon with fuchsia and billowy pinnars of white chiffon, and with a hat that was altogether perfect she made a picture that will not soon be forgotten.

Robert Friebur, Adele's unfortunate young adorer was capably done by Alfred Kappeler. The two comedy fathers, Alfred Friebur and Henri Parmaceu, done by Jules Epally and George O'Donnell, furnished laughs by the yard, and Friebur's apocryptic rages called forth much hilarious laughter and applause.

Jacques, the valet, was handled by Ralph Nairn, who looks so much like Eddie Foy that it wouldn't be startling to see the seven little Foy's toddling along in his wake.

Santa Ana is fortunate in the number of excellent theatrical attractions that have appeared here this winter, and theater-loving people should be properly appreciative. The next attraction, Friday evening, will be "How Dye Do," which has been such a brilliant success in Los Angeles.

Garden Grove Man Gets Bunch of Money for Hole in Ground

FULLERTON, Feb. 24.—Nate Harriman of Garden Grove reports the sale of his gold mine in San Bernardino county to Arizona parties for $66,000. The new company will expend $20,000 for development work on the property at once.

The property adjoins the gold mine of the Fullerton Mining and Milling Company, which has just purchased a stamp mill that will have an output of forty tons daily. The Fullerton company hopes to have its mill in operation in six weeks and will employ between fifteen and twenty men at the start. The stock in the Fullerton company is owned by residents of Los Angeles, Fullerton, Anaheim and Pasadena.

It is reported that the Standard Oil Company will pipe the gas from its great gusher on the Emery lease to El Segundo to be used for lighting purposes in that city. It is said the output from this one well would supply a city of 10,000 to 15,000 population. To protect employees from danger the gas has been piped out from the well and burned and the light can be seen thirty miles away at night.

Husband Follows Runaway Pair from Honolulu to Orange

Orange News: The long search of a husband for a truant wife culminated today in the arrest here of Milton J. Satow and Mrs. Kitty Morgan on complaint of the latter's husband, John G. Morgan, who has followed them all the way from far-off Hawaii.

The arrival this morning of Morgan brought to light a story of a pretty Japanese woman, lured from her white husband by infatuation for another, and the subsequent flight from her island home to America.

Morgan and the Japanese woman were married in Hawaii on January 2, of this year. Their wedded bliss was of short duration and soon after their marriage, the wife fled with another white man, Milton Satow, taking her two-year-old child of a former marriage.

Morgan was not content to let her go. The trail led from Honolulu to San Francisco. From there he traced them to Watsonville, then to Los Angeles and then to Orange. Always he was just too late to intercept them, but at each stopping place he grew warmer on the trail.

The fugitives arrived in this city Friday evening and took apartments at 143 South Shafter street. Satow found work in the grading camp south of town and they apparently were prepared to stay some time. Morgan appeared this morning and immediately swore out a warrant for their arrest.

City Marshal Sutton served the warrant. He found the woman at their apartments. She was of refined appearance, spoke English perfectly, but was in nowise disturbed by the situation which confronted her so suddenly. Satow was taken into custody at the grading camp and both prisoners were taken to the county jail in Santa Ana. Satow also took things easily and seemed to be in no fear of the husband's wrath. In fact Morgan himself was disposed to a peaceable solution of the affair and took no personal hand in matters. His chief desire seemed to be to get the ear of his wife and induce her to come back to him. From her conversation with the officers, it seemed however, that he would likely be disappointed, as the woman apparently held to her affection for Satow.

The officers were somewhat undecided as to what grounds of procedure should be taken. The arrest was made on a charge of misdemeanor, but they are undecided as to whether the pair can be dealt with on that charge.

Breaks in West Bank Near Olive Sent Volume to Mother Colony

Anaheim Herald: Sunday morning about 1:30 Chief of Police Kellenberger received a phone message saying the Santa Ana river had broken through its banks.

An officer was sent out to investigate the situation at once, but found the report was incorrect.

About 2:30 a.m. another call was received by the chief that the river really was beyond control. City Trustee Cook, F. H. Ahlborn, Night-watcher Inman and Chief Kellenberger left town in an auto as soon as it was near daylight. They made good progress until going north from Santa Ana street on Placentia avenue they came to deep water which killed their engine. The disrobing stunt was here enacted and the gentlemen pushed the auto back to higher ground. They made a circuitous trip to a point farther north and arrived at the break.

It was soon apparent that the two breaks in the banks, about a half mile north of the Olive bridge, were of such magnitude that a large force would be necessary to cope with the oncoming waters.

About noon an alarm was made and volunteers were called for to assist in repairing the banks of the river. About 250 men responded and were conveyed to the place along with shovels and 2000 empty sacks.

The Anaheim Track and Transfer Co. sent out five teams and drivers along with scrapers. A. W. Wood sent out two teams. These were practically all the teams available to do any filling work.

Various schemes were tried, but at last a large number of sacks were filled with sand and a levee built in front of the break in the bank nearest the Olive bridge. This stemmed the force of the waters and the break was finally filled with more sacks of sand. After this, scrapers were used and the teams hauled load after load of ground to be dumped on top of the sacks already in the hole. This stopped a large volume of water and the first sacks protected the temporary bank from further damage. This was finished at 4 o'clock p.m.

The break farther north was beyond repair. Water was pouring through the opening about 40 feet in length, but the bank was weak for about 300 feet, and there was no use in trying to stop it.

About 7 a.m. some of the citizens of Anaheim west of the Santa Fe tracks noticed a small stream running down Center street to Olive, thence south to Broadway. It followed Broadway to Los Angeles street, where it turned south to the Southern Pacific depot. This stream was at first quite small, but grew gradually until plans were necessary to make the crossings available for pedestrians.

Taken all in all Anaheim has fared well. No damage of any account has been done in Anaheim. In the district east of Anaheim some small damage was done from the water getting in cellars, etc. Practically no damage was done to orchards, in fact the flood waters were flowing so gently that a nice layer of silt was deposited on the ranches. If some of the ranchers east of town on Center street had allowed the waters to irrigate their ranches, Anaheim would not have received any of the overflow waters at all. In this respect Anaheim is lucky, for six hours work with the city's teams on East street would have made a sufficient barrier to have kept back all of the flood waters. Practically all of the water that came to Anaheim came down Center street on account of the high banks thrown up by the ranchers near the cemetery. This should have gone south across these ranches, and never would have come west to Anaheim. Another break was made in the A.U.W. Co. ditch on Placentia avenue just south of the E. A. Day ranch, which allowed a large stream to come down Santa Ana street and flooded some fields south of town.

Today the people of Anaheim and the surrounding country are rejoicing that the break in the river banks was delayed so long, and that this part of the state has passed through the storm with practically no damage at all.

DENVER SCHOOL TEACH HOUSE WIFERY

Mrs. Anna M. Noble Tells How to Teach Girls to Meet Home Responsibilities

DENVER, Feb. 24.—To teach young girls their responsibility toward their home, friends and children and to show them that good work must be done with good tools and that the body is the tool of the mind and the spirit, is the task set for herself by Mrs. Anna M. Noble, lecturer on sex hygiene, whose addresses on that subject to public school children have been fostered by local clubwomen. Mrs. Noble has outlined a practical course of instruction leading up to the truths she teaches in the following article:

(Written for the United Press.)

The ideal home is the brightest contribution a woman can make to her state. To teach girls the art of home making combined with the art of parenthood and sex education is my aim. At the time that girls are forming their standards of social life the subject can be best presented, hence I choose high school pupils. The great trouble with our society is the lack of home training. Once start the girl thinking what it costs to maintain a home and give her the proper idea of home economics she will hesitate a long time before she runs away to marry a boy incapable of maintaining a home.

My work with girls is entirely constructive. I have little faith in my ability to reform anyone, but much in the chance to form the right standards in the average girl's mind. I combine physical hygiene with practical home making, child training, and the responsibility of each girl to the future generation.

The RESULTS of an immoral life are not held up to my pupils, but the BEAUTY of the ideal mental and spiritual relationships of the home are constantly held up to them. The girls make a budget of expenses for a home to be maintained on a $100 a month salary. They imagine they have married a man who earns that sum. It looks easy to run a house on that amount and save $25 monthly. The results of careful investigation of prices of food, clothing, incidental expenses of dentists' bills, doctors' bills, car fare, and numerous other things that must be taken into account fairly stagger enthusiastic young women. They begin to realize the value of money and to appreciate how mother has to skimp to make ends meet.

And there is the question of amusements. Every girl must find her own danger line in the social world. My line will not do for some other girl. The girl who loves to read and cares little for mingling with others is in danger of becoming a useless unit in the ideal community. Her sister who likes the "movies" is in danger of becoming infatuated with that sort of amusement only. Then, too, the girls grasp the danger of going along the "Great White Way" unchaperoned. In my two years of experience in this work I have never had a girl who has taken these lectures in the wrong spirit. They are eager to learn to become builders of the ideal home, and mothers of the best type of children.

HER MISSIVE WENT TO WRONG NATION—NO USE FOR GERMAN

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Because a walnut went to Germany instead of England a romantic young French girl is being overwhelmed with offers of marriage from Germans, much to the disgust of her patriotic relatives. During the Christmas festivities at Halle, Germany, a wealthy manufacturer had a huge Christmas tree laden with presents, candies, etc., and when the tree was being dispensed one of the guests took a walnut from the branches. Instead of a letter in French signed "Alfredine Mairand, of Tureane, France." The letter stated that Alfredine, having finished her school studies, wanted to perfect herself in the English language and wished to enter into correspondence with a young Englishman, and she hoped that chance would cause the walnut to reach some such destination.

The romance of the situation appealed to the young men of Halle and letters offering marriage flowed in. Instead of such an extent that she had to insert an advertisement in the newspapers indicating that her sympathies leaned wholly toward Englishmen, and that anyway she wouldn't look at a German.

MODERN TENDENCIES OF THEOLOGICAL THOUGHT

Paper Read Before the Santa Ana Present Day Club and the Southern California Baptist Ministerial Association at Los Angeles, by Rev. Otto Russell, Pastor of the Santa Ana First Baptist Church.

PART THREE—EMPHASIS ON THE SOCIAL AND THE PRACTICAL

In the earlier days ethics were eschatological, the church was ever looking for the return of Christ; this wonderful event was expected at any time, and when it should transpire the kingdoms of this world would become the kingdoms of Christ, and his kingdom would be supreme. With this thought possessing them they placed very little emphasis upon temporal kingdoms; they did not see the need of preparation or consideration for future generations on the earth. If they had any such thoughts they were dominated by eschatology. Social achievements had little place in the minds of men. From the epistle to the Thessalonians we see how the speedy coming of the Lord was emphasized, which might have a tendency to lead men to neglect the social responsibility. Thess. 2: 12: "Now we beseech you brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus, and by our gathering together unto Him, that ye be not soon shaken in mind, or troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand," etc.

Man could not carry riches into the spiritual kingdom, then why amass them? True he must labor for necessary food for himself and family, but beyond this it was folly. To possess comforts and luxuries was dangerous to spiritual welfare, and also it was using for yourself what another might chance to need. So Ambrose speaks: "Thou, then, who hast received the gift of God, thinkest thou that thou committest no injustice by keeping to thyself alone what would be the means of life to many? It is the bread of the hungry that thou keepest, it is the clothing of the naked that thou lookest up; the money that thou mustest is the redemption of the wretched."

Ideas in those days were social, so far as the industrial ideas were dominated by a desire to prevent men from defrauding others; while to the individual, business was dangerous because it led to avarice.

Tertullian gives us a suggestion of the attitude of the church in those days. De Idol 11 and 12: "Is trade adapted for a servant of God? But, covetousness apart, what is the motive for acquiring? When the motive for acquiring ceases, there will be no necessity for trading. Do you hesitate about arts and trades, and about professions likewise for the sake of children and parents? Even there (in the gospels) was it demonstrated to us that both dear relatives and handicrafts and trades are to be left behind for the Lord's sake; while James and John, called by the Lord, do leave behind both father and ship; while Matthew is roused up from the toll booth; while even burying a father was too tardy a business for faith. None of those whom the Lord chose to him said, 'I have no means to live; faith fears no famine.'"

Thus the early church discouraged industry which the church is encouraging today. Indeed the church has been much aroused to consider these business and social problems, and is making herself felt in endeavoring to hold forth true business principles, and quiet the turmoil of industrial conflict; to place proper emphasis upon the individual, and to see a proper adjustment of social conditions; to place proper valuation on natural resources and make plans so that generations to come may be better because of the generation of this day, and not find themselves bankrupt because we have not been wise to conserve for others while we live today; to emphasize the greater need of the modern social worker so that forces, physical and social, which destroy children of this generation may not continue to exist and destroy those of the generations to come; not to be satisfied with saving a few lives now, but to project ourselves by social reconstruction into the great future.

Theological trend, then, in this social way is pragmatic; that is a working social order; in other words, a practical working religion; a religion that touches every-day life. I know when we suggest this we are likely to arouse the enthusiast who declares that the church is slow and indifferent, and who proceeds to rectify distressing tragedies in the social world, and condemn the church for her lethargy. Hear Morrison I. Swift as quoted in James' Pragmatism: "The Cleveland working man, killing his children and himself, is one of the elemental stupendous facts of the modern world, and of this universe. It cannot be glazed over or minimized away by all the treatises on God, and love, and being helplessly existing in their monumental vacuity. This is one of the simple, irreducible elements of this world's life after millions of years of opportunity and twenty centuries of Christ. It is in the mental world what atoms or subatoms are in the physical—primary, indelible; and what it blazes to man in the imposture of all philosophy which does not see in such events the consummate factor of all conscious experience. These facts invincible prove religion a nullity. Man will not give religion two thousand centuries more to try itself and waste human life. Its time is up; its probation is ended; its own record ends it. Mankind has not aeons and eternities to spare for trying out discredited systems."

This man has exaggerated the menace and unjustly condemned the church. Her probation is not up. The church will ride on to conquer still. If the gates of hell shall not prevail against her, surely such prating as the above will not kill her. She is now moving out and on to make herself felt in these very social realms. To convince you of this allow me to present you the modern creed of the church, which is little more than a year old.

In December, 1912, the federal conference of the Churches of Christ in America, representing thirty-two Protestant denominations, with 17,000,000 members, adopted the following, which they called The Social Creed of the Churches.

1. The church stands—

1. For equal rights and complete justice for all men in all stations of life.

2. For the protection of the family, by the single standard of purity, uniform divorce laws, proper regulation of marriage, and proper housing.

3. For the fullest possible development for every child, especially by the provision of proper education and recreation.

4. For the abolition of child labor.

5. For such regulation of the conditions of toil for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community.

6. For the abatement and prevention of poverty.

7. For the protection of the individual and society from the social, economic, and moral waste of the liquor traffic.

8. For the conservation of health.

9. For the protection of the worker from dangerous machinery, occupational diseases and mortality.

10. For the right of all men to the opportunity for self maintenance, for safeguarding this right against encroachments of every kind, and for the protection of workers from the hardships of enforced unemployment.

11. For suitable provision for the old age of workers, and for those incapacitated by injury.

12. For the right of employees and employers alike to organize for adequate means of conciliation and arbitration in industrial disputes.

13. For a release from employment one day in seven.

14. For the gradual and reasonable reduction of the hours of labor to the lowest practical point, and for that degree of leisure for all which is a condition of the highest human life.

15. For a living wage as a minimum in every industry, and for the highest wage that each industry can afford.

16. For a new emphasis upon the application of Christian principles to the acquisition and use of property, and for the most equitable division of the product of industry that can ultimately be devised.

Surely no one can read this new creed and say there is no social tendency in theology or that the church is indifferent to these things. As I suggested I have written many letters to theological thinkers asking what in their minds the theological tendencies of today are. Some are worth giving you which I gladly do.

Dr. C. L. Goodell of New York City said: "There is less tendency to dogmatism and more tendency toward pragmatism; the final test of religion is, Will it work?"

Dr. W. H. Geistweil of San Diego says: "The tendency is toward a Christianity that expresses itself in terms of service; the change that has come over Christendom during the past ten years is phenomenal; we are emphasizing social service in a way our fathers never dreamed. The emphasis is not upon the life that is to come, but upon the life that now is, which is the eternal life."

Dr. William G. Morehead of Xenia, Ohio, said: "Present tendency of theological thought is mainly, almost supremely, sociological. This feature is seen in publications, in theological discussions, even in the curricula of theological seminaries. The characteristic term by which it is designated is uplift. The effect is to change whole communities, reform society at large and better the condition of men in general."

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis said: "If thirty years ago the pendulum was swinging toward materialism, it is now moving rapidly toward idealism. I do not know in what sense Dr. Hillis speaks unless it be in the social sense."

Dr. J. J. Reeve of Chicago: "There is a strong tendency to emphasize the practical and helpful aspects of Jesus Christ's character and work, rather than the metaphysical attribute of his divinity; a tendency to emphasize the social aspects of the Bible and Christianity, to make religion more practical and a matter of service rather than doctrine, to eliminate the spectacular and miraculous elements, to eliminate the terrors of hell, to lay emphasis upon the kingdom of God upon earth rather than in heaven."

Dr. Nehemiah Boynton of New York City: "One might almost say that it is a time of intermission in theological thought, for the present day demand is the spiritual interpretation of truth and its application to life. The world is so busy with the practice of religion, as not to be profoundly interested in the principle of it."

Dr. Shailer Mathews, in a sermon in New York City about a year ago, said: "I believe in denominationalism as an economic device by which enthusiasm may be infused into one great enthusiasm. I am a Baptist, and proud of it; other people were born Presbyterians, or Congregationalists, or something else, and they are no doubt proud of that. There is no more difference between us than there is between two different branches of the army. We have the same captain and the same marching orders, and the same enemy. But the task before us Christians today is not so much denominationalism; the world does not care whether we are closed or open communion; it does not know what we mean when we talk about different matters of belief. All those things are important enough, but when it comes to the real issue, what is more significant than all those things, it is this great question: Is honesty, is purity, is social service an expression of the need of society? The fundamental issue that we face is the world, with its selfishness, its harshness, its industrial injustice, its cheating of young men's manhood—a great historic thing as I see it. The Federal council of the churches of Christ in America embraces thirty-two different denominations, and as I presided the other day over that council in Chicago, there came over me a great comparison between it and the council of Nicea. It also sought unity, it, too, tried to bring peace into the empire and the state and sought it in theological definition. This representation of 17,000,000 protestant Christians came to discuss how they could best carry on co-operative work for the good of mankind. If the council of Nicea, instead of wasting weeks over the discussion of a word had organized a mission to go up into Germany, what a different story history would have told. There were thousands of Germans who were going down to Rome to sack it and make it their own. These same people are coming to us right from the same region. They present new problems. I believe these people carry with them idealisms and power that if properly handled will make them splendid Americans in the future. No pessimism for me. They present new problems to the church, so big that no single burden alone, we are face to face with co-operative Protestantism. Seventeen millions are coming to us every year, and more clearly the task is ours, and it is not to make people all agree. God grant we do not agree. If you were on various radii of a great circle and wanted to get together there are two ways to do it. The simpler way is, you may all face toward the center. The nearer you get to the center the nearer you are to each other. We have turned toward the center where stands the Christ, giving himself for the world and beckoning us to give ourselves to the world; and lo, as we come

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

Preached by Rev. Otto S. Russell, Pastor of First Baptist Church at Temple of Music, Sunday, February 22, 1914

Luke 12: 15 and 21. "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. So is every one that layeth up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God."

Theme: True and false riches.

In this chapter Jesus is warning against the leaven of the Pharisee. Hypocrisy is the note he is sounding. He urges men to beware of covetousness, and illustrates the idea of true and false wealth by the parable of the rich fool. All are guilty at least in a measure. One day Lincoln and two boys were going down the street. The boys were quarreling. When some one asked Lincoln what was wrong with the boys he said: "I have one apple and both want it. The trouble with them is the trouble with all—we all want the same thing."

1. Man's wealth. To some the idea of riches is gold and all that he has will give for it. When Cortez and his companions were compelled to flee from Mexico when the Aztecs entered the city, Cortez warned his soldiers against taking too much gold, for each one must fight his way through the enemies' ranks. Some heeded this, some did not but placed gold chains about their necks and waists, but the burden was too heavy. They staggered under the weight of gold and became a prey to the enemy.

To some it is houses and lands, stores and banks, food and clothes and luxuries of life. Against this Jesus warns in the parable of the rich fool. He tells them that life does not depend on wealth; this may bring sorrow and death. Life is not conditioned by the abundance of possessions, but in the manner they are used.

To some it is social pleasures. Now when all is summed up the resultant is death.

II. Christ's wealth. This He declares to be life.

"I have come that ye might have life, and have it more abundantly." Jesus was not a social reformer, but a life giver. What men need is life. More life. Give men abundant life and all else follows. Give the sick man red blood and he baffles disease.

How is this wealth secured?

1. In finding God. "He that hath the Son hath life." When we find Christ we find God. Christ brings God out of the far away to us. If I want to know more about God I must know more about Christ. "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father."

2. In regeneration and forgiveness of sins. This gives the soul a new start in life. Old things pass away, all things become new to the soul. Surely that soul is rich that knows sin is taken away.

An Alaskan miner, regenerated, said after his conversion: "I've lived the life of the camps, and I had no thought what was going to come hereafter. I've been in every camp on the coast, from California to the Arctic, and I've had all sorts of luck; but partners, this is the first time I've ever struck it rich."

How is this wealth revealed?

1. In great faith. Job 13:15. "Though He slay me yet will I trust in Him." Scrutinize this tragedy. First messenger says oxen, asses and servants are gone. Second messenger comes and says camels are gone, and the third says children are gone. Oh, the anguish of this father's heart. That which he had accumulated for his children and his children too are gone. Job's life did not consist in the abundance of the things he possessed, but in great faith. The second trial touches him with disease. His wife and friends fail here, but Job holds up and cries: "Though He slay me yet will I trust in Him." Truest riches is in the faith that rises above these things.

2. Strong hope. Which hope we have as an anchor. Surely that sail is rich whose anchor holds in the storm. How much better and richer the soul anchored to God.

3. In interpreting the spiritual. Knowing what the great God has at heart. Is he not rich whose soul is so much in touch with God that he can read God's thoughts? Dead souls cannot. "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God; for they are foolishness unto him."

Christ's mission enabled men to discern the spiritual. He relates our spirits to the great spirit of the universe and interprets our personality in terms of a great brotherhood.

4. In service and achievement. Read Job 14:12: "Verily I say unto you, he that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do." These words were uttered just before the scene at the cross. They had seen Jesus do many great things—heal sick, calm storms, feed multitudes and raise the dead. But a greater work than this was the scene at Pentecost when a multitude found God. Forgiveness of sins is greater than healing a hand that has been touched by a flame. Jesus said when the four men brought one to Him and He was forgiving sins of the man and some questioned Jesus said "That he may know that the Son of Man hath power to forgive sins, I say to the sick Arise..." He who wins a soul is greater than he who heals a disease. Payton did a greater work in regenerating men and women in South Seas than if he had turned water into wine.

5. In love's revelation and sacrifice. God's riches of heart are revealed to us everywhere. The greatest not in season's and temporal blessings "For without the giver the gift is bare."—Job 3:16. "God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son." He who has gotten grace to give himself has gotten rich toward God. Lady Huntington though rich it material things was richer toward God; though having a large annual income she dwelt in a humble home, lived without luxuries that she might support colleges and preacher like Whitfield, who made many souls rich in leading them to know God.

So rich in loving service to unfortunate ones was Alexandra, the mother queen of England, that her acts inspired that beautiful popular painting known as "Flowery charity."

6. In the assurance that Christ is leading the soul home.

"I will come again and receive you unto myself." He ever stands forth in the light appealing to that soul He has led into the greater life, saying: "Come unto me and I will lead you home to God."

nearer to him and our tasks we find ourselves closer together."

These social problems are burning problems, and the church is arousing herself to meet them. She knows as well as the world that Christianity cannot be confined to the four walls of a church and house and not eventually die. The church knows that the family, not the state, is the basis of society, and that the church has a witness to bear on behalf of the family. The church knows that if society is regenerated the family must be regenerated first of all.

Along this line, Dr. Scott Nearing, of the University of Pennsylvania, says: "Here is a man with a wife and four children living in an unsanitary, tumble-down tenement. The woman has rheumatism; the children are rickety. Obviously, the family ought to move to a better dwelling. The rent is over due, however, and if they move the landlord will levy on the furniture; the grocer's and butcher's bills are large and cannot be met; moreover, to move means either to go into an equally cheap, bad house somewhere else, or to pay more rent. How can this family pay more rent than the present $225 per week? The father earns $9 as a laborer in lead works. Of late years he has been ailing—lead poisoning, they say; and with the doctor and medicine bills, the balance after paying the present rent is scarcely large enough to buy food. Then, too, work is not steady. During some weeks the lead works is closed making $9 three days, and instead of making $45.00, the man earns $6, and sometimes $4.50. But the rent stays at $225. If the man had always earned high wages he would never have been reduced to living in such a vile hovel. In fact, when he first married he lived in a respectable little cottage, for which he paid $15 per month. But the children came, and by the time there were four of them it seemed necessary to move in order to cut expenses. So the family came here. Even now a rise in wages would enable them to live better, but that rise does not come. The children, too, feel the burden of low wages and bad quarters. The oldest boy, 13, sells papers. He has already learned to beg; and the other day after making a raid on a freight car loaded with bananas, he found himself, with two of his companions, securely lodged in the station house. He is no worse than the average boy, but he was hungry—in fact, since the last two children came and the family began its dry bread and coffee diet, his stomach has been constantly quoting Oliver Twist's famous saying, 'Please, sir, I want some more.' The two girls, 10 and 8, are ill dressed and ragged. They do not make a good appearance at school. Their brother ceased to attend last year for that reason. They feel uncomfortable—so uncomfortable that they are not benefiting particularly by the geography and mental arithmetic which are administered daily in liberal quantities. The family has been living an indecently crowded life—eating, drinking, dressing and sleeping in three small rooms; therefore, not of the books, is amazing in extent, and is readily available. Upon meeting other women, they constantly employ this learning in appalling conversations. A higher wage would provide this family with food, clothing and a good house of decent size, medicines, attendance; for the mother is a good manager, and the father a hard working and sober, though sick man. The children would attend school decently clad and would live decent lives at home. The question, therefore, very naturally arises—How many men in the United States are receiving wages which force them and their families to live under such abnormally bad conditions? East of the Rockies and north of the Mason and Dixon line three-quarters of the adult males and nineteen-twentieths of the adult females earn less than $600 per year. This territory is mentioned because here is where the larger part of population is and here the factories are located."

The church, knowing of these conditions, and that she must make herself heard and felt, comes forth with her social creed, and begins her work of applied Christianity. Kansas City, Mo., is working out these principles of applied Christianity in a very splendid way, through the board of public welfare. The Kansas City Star said recently: "Through the activities of this board, the social conscience of the community is finding expression. It is working for that wide justice which must lie at the foundation of religion, if that religion is to be effective. Poor people constantly suffer injustice because they cannot find the expense of litigation in the courts. The board's free legal aid bureau brings justice within reach of the most defenseless person. The poor man needs to borrow money. He cannot get it at a bank. So the welfare loan agency offers him banking accommodations. The man out of work is a constant problem. The board's free employment agency and the municipal rock quarry help toward its solution. Through the parole department a personal interest is taken in the man who is temporarily down and out. Through the municipal farm a chance is given the offender to straighten up. The factory inspection department sees to it that the factories observe proper regulations for health and safety. Through its investigators the board supervises housing. It undertakes to regulate commercialized recreations and amusements. It investigates cases reported in need of help. In conjunction with the board of public welfare, must be mentioned the work of the juvenile court—whose first probation officer was employed at the instance of Henry Hopkins, an eminent Congregationalist,—with its boys' hotel, the McCune farm and the widows' pension act."

The need of our time, it seems to me, is very much the awakening of personal religion, personal Christianity; in other words, the application of theological thought to the problems of society, the safeguarding of the home, the saving of people not only for heaven, but also the saving of people for the now.

I am aware of the fact that this tendency pushed to the extreme is likely to result in harm for we are likely to forget other obligations we owe the souls of men. Allow me to refer you to two or three personal letters.

Dr. Carter Helm Jones, of Seattle, a man much traveled and known in the East and South: "The practical current is a mighty 'tendency toward Christian social service. It is healthy and helpful in turning the attention of the churches away from credal statements, inherited from theological metaphysics, to the plain teachings of Jesus concerning the kingdom on earth. It is unhealthy where it is carried too far, as it is in many quarters, and consciously or unconsciously neglects the great truth of regeneration and turns the church into a philanthropic club or high pressure reformation society."

Dr. William Morehead, of Xenia, Ohio: "Little or no account is taken of the lost condition of the race; sin is not prominent in it."

Dr. Augustus H. Strong, Theological Seminary, Rochester, N. Y.: "The tendency is to minimize inspiration of scriptures and so to weaken the authority of the Bible. Faith in Christ, deity and atonement is often lost, and social results are sought without care for their only genuine causes in regeneration and union with Christ."
